Young heart fails old man

PARIS (AP) — A 66-year-old French grandfather, the oldest man to undergo a heart transplant, died Tuesday when the strong young heart placed in his chest flooded his lungs with blood, according to an autopsy report.

Clovis Roblain died Tuesday 51½ hours after he received a new heart. Dr. Christian Cabrol, who headed the transplant team, said the autopsy showed he "had a deficient circulatory system and because he had remained in bed for so long he had numerous clots in his veins."

"When a new and vigorous heart propelled a normal circulatory flow, it swept away all the clots and completely flooded his lungs," Cabrol said.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, chief of surgery at La Pitte Hospital where Roblain underwent the nine-hour operation Saturday night, said earlier that the retired truck driver had succumbed to an insufficient flow of blood to the brain.

There was no immediate explanation how the autopsy results could be reconciled with the explanation of death given by Mercadier, who did not participate in the operation but was spokesman for the team.

Roblain, called "Pop" by his friends, never regained consciousness after the operation at La Pitte.

LBJ launches drive for paper gold

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson launched a drive Tuesday for a quick U.S. ratification of a plan for paper gold — the first basic change in international currency in more than two decades.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said the United States, as a leader in the five years of negotiations which led to the plan, should be one of the first nations to ratify it.

He called the plan a landmark and a historic step and said failure to approve it "could turn the clock backward to the dark days of restrictive economic policies, narrow interests, empty ports and idle men."

Rocky vows to make it fight

Reagan, Rocky coalition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's entry into active competition for the GOP presidential nomination points toward a coalition of convenience with California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The necessity of preventing former Vice President Richard M. Nixon from sweeping to a first ballot nomination at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention may force New York's Rockefeller and Reagan into a cage embrace even though they are presumed to occupy opposing poles in Republican policy thinking.

Between them Rockefeller and Reagan are expected to control the bulk of their states' 176 votes toward the 667 needed for the nomination.

Only by sticking together and attracting favorite sons to their coalition banner can they hope to force the multiple roll calls which could swing the nomination to one of them—or possibly to a dark horse.

Reagan is strong in the South where Nixon's most compact strength lies and where Rockefeller could expect little more than a pleasant greeting from party workers.

Rockefeller is strong in New England and the eastern industrial states, where Reagan is not exactly popular. Reagan holds California and presumably has secondary strength in the Pacific coast and some of the mountain states.

The chief stumbling block to team action is that neither governor can admit publicly he is clubbing with the other to stop Nixon.

It would be politically unseemly, for example, for Rockefeller's backers to give public support to Reagan in the Nebraska and Oregon primaries, where the California governor is on the ballot against Nixon and the New York governor is not.

Rockefeller obviously is going to depend on Republican governors to back his bid for the nomination. But they are not easily herded in any single direction, as they have demonstrated repeatedly.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, head of the Republican Governors Association, has been for Rockefeller since Gov. George Romney of Michigan dropped out of the race.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller symbolically throws his hat in the Republican presidential ring Tuesday. Rockefeller announced that he would fight Richard M. Nixon for the GOP nomination.

Ike on recovery after suffering heart attack

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has suffered a mild heart attack and probably will be hospitalized here for several weeks, the base said Tuesday.

Eisenhower was brought here Monday suffering from chest pains, and the announcement at an afternoon briefing that he had suffered a "myocardial infarction" was the first word on the seriousness of his illness.

When his condition permits, Eisenhower will be transferred to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington. He had been due to return to his home at Gettysburg, Pa., in a few days.

"He has had a good day with no chest pain," the hospital bulletin said. "Blood pressure has remained normal. He has no fever. He has been visited by Mrs. Eisenhower."

This was the third heart attack for the man who led allied forces to victory in Europe in World War II then served two terms as the nation's chief executive.

His others were in 1955 while he was president and in 1965 while he was vacationing in Augusta, Ga.

The retired five star general

Dwight Eisenhower, on mend is in a cardiac care unit "where all modern conveniences for treatment are available together with nursing service," the base said.

Two heart specialists were flown here from Walter Reed late Monday night.

The statement said Eisenhower is on a light, low-calorie, low-sodium diet. It added: "A general prognosis cannot be made at this time."

The diagnosis said simply "A thorough evaluation of studies which have been conducted has indicated that Gen. Eisenhower has sustained a mild myocardial infarction."

Earlier, the hospital said Eisenhower was resting comfortably and in "excellent spirits."

The 77-year-old soldier-statesman played golf Monday morning at his winter home at Palm Desert. After the heart attack, he canceled an appointment for a visit from King Olav of Norway and called for his doctors.

After examining him at home, they ordered him flown here by helicopter.

Reds killed 1,000 in Hue

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops executed more than 1,000 persons, burying some alive and shooting or beheading others, while they occupied Hue in February, the U.S. Embassy reported Tuesday.

Most of the victims were South Vietnamese, but they also included two French priests, three South Koreans and a Hong Kong Chinese who was a British subject, the embassy said.

There have been piecemeal reports of the slaughter of civilians while the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong occupied the old imperial capital during the Tet offensive, but this was the first time any officials gave an over-all picture.

An embassy spokesman said it took two months to compile the reports from allied sources and South Vietnamese police because officials wanted to be sure of accuracy.

"Many had been shot, some beheaded," said the embassy report. "A number of bodies showed signs of mutilation. Most were found with hands bound behind their backs."

"Evidence also was discovered of victims having been clubbed unconscious prior to being buried alive."

One Buddhist monk told investigators that almost nightly from a field behind the pagoda he and other monks heard cries for mercy and shots.

In all, 19 mass graves were found in and around Hue, the embassy said. The largest grave, containing 201 bodies, was found near the imperial tombs.

"Victims included Father Urbain, 52, and Father Guy, 48, French priests from the nearby Benedictine mission at Thien An," the report said.

"Father Urbain was bound hand and foot and buried alive with 19 others. Father Guy was forced to kneel and shot through the head."

Another large grave was found at Gia Hoi high school. Almost 200 bodies were found there, and about half the victims apparently were buried alive, the embassy said.

In another grave were 77 bodies, including those of three South Koreans and a Hong Kong Chinese. Another grave contained the bodies of about 50 women.

Twenty bodies in a grave outside Hue were reported to be those of civilians seized by enemy troops from their refuge in the Benedictine church at Hue Feb. 8 and taken on a death march.

Governor to seek GOP nomination

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, reversing his previous position, threw himself into contention Tuesday for the Republican Presidential nomination and vowed to fight Richard M. Nixon for it, "right up to the last vote."

"I now commit myself to seeking this office—and so serve our nation—with all my heart and mind and will," he said.

Rockefeller's expressions ranged from jut-jawed determination to breezy optimism as he made his announcement and then replied to questions in a news conference.

His wife, wearing a bright, tangerine-colored dress, sat on his right while he spoke. He frequently turned to look at her.

Just 46 days ago, in another news conference, the New York governor took himself out of the race for the nomination. A number of the men who persuaded him to change his mind were present Tuesday.

In a conversation at his official residence later, Rockefeller said to a reporter, "The country has changed. Never in history has so much changed in five weeks. Now I am giving the people an option."

In a statement which he read before the questioning began, he set forth four reasons for reversing himself:

1. "... the gravity of the crises that face us as a people."
2. His conviction that "to comment from the sidelines is not an effective way to present the alternatives."
3. He said many persons, "within the Republican party and outside it," urged him to get in the fight.
4. "Personally, I am deeply disturbed by the course of events—growing unrest and anxiety at home, and the signs of disintegration abroad."

Comments promptly came from Nixon, the apparent front-runner for the GOP nomination, and from Gov. George Romney of Michigan, whom Rockefeller supported until he dropped out of the race in early March.

Nixon's statement said in part: "I think Gov. Rockefeller's announcement will make for a more exciting convention and will result in a more meaningful discussion of the issues... I'm glad to have him in. I have thought all along that it would be very helpful for the Republican party to have another active candidate in the contest."

Romney echoed this thought, adding: "Because no other candidate in either party can match his executive experience in national and state government, every American should give his availability for the President the same careful consideration that the Michigan delegation will in determining which candidate it will finally support at the convention in Miami Beach."

On March 21, when Rockefeller said he would not contend for the nomination, he said he would answer "any true and meaningful call from his party."

Asked if he now has heard that call, he replied, "I think the draft is really—I would say has been the result of events."

His supporters said this refers primarily to President Johnson's announcement that he would not seek re-election.

He was interrupted several times by applause and laughter.

Columbia university re-opens

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City police stormed five occupied Columbia University buildings in the dead of night Tuesday and broke up a week-long student sit-in, which had paralyzed the Ivy League campus.

"We anticipate a full schedule of classes Wednesday," a university spokesman announced.

However, even as he spoke, undergraduate militants sought to promote an all-out strike of students and faculty. Their target was Columbia President Grayson Kirk, who called in the police to smash the disruptive demonstration.

Groups roamed the littered uptown Manhattan campus, shouting, "Kirk must go! Kirk must go!"

Kirk said he had no intention of resigning.

In the club swinging, fist fighting, pushing and kneeling that marked the violent subjugation of the Columbia demonstrators, 100 youths and 15 policemen were reported injured, none seriously. There were 628 arrests, on charges of trespassing.

The early morning assault against the barricaded and occupied buildings turned the once-placid Morningside Heights campus into a dark and seething uproar of students, who bled, wept, screamed and denounced police as "fascists."

There were complaints of police brutality against the 600 to 700 students whose sit-ins began April 23. Columbia has an enrollment of 25,381.

New York Times reporter Bob Thomas said he had been severely beaten by police, and added: "I observed some really savage beatings given to students."

Rocky wins support in Mass. primary

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York won surprising written support Tuesday as early returns were counted in the Massachusetts presidential primary — on the very day Rockefeller announced his candidacy for president.

The first scattered returns showed he was running ahead of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and close behind Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts.

Late results showed:
Rockefeller 16,542
Nixon 13,514

Rev. Ralph Abernathy talks to Mrs. Alberta Scott, a poverty crusader.

They want action

Poor people don't want sympathy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the Poor People's Campaign calling on some of the most powerful men in government continued to get rudeness Tuesday but their leader insisted: "We don't just want sympathy, we want action."

Taking stock on the campaign's second day, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy assured his followers that polite receptions and declarations of good intentions won't sway him.

The plan is still to bring thousands of poor persons to Washington, he said, to camp here and apply mounting pressure to the governmental apparatus until the lot of America's poor improves dramatically.

"They were concerned about our demonstrations," Abernathy said after a round of conferences. "We made it clear we intend to conduct nonviolent, peaceful demonstrations. We also made it very clear to them that we are leaders of a revolution that is taking place in this country today."

Abernathy spent 90 minutes with Senate Majority Leader

Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"We had a very friendly and, I thought, very constructive meeting," Dirksen said.

"They explained their aims," Mansfield said, adding "There were no threats, no demands."

But not all of the high level officials called on were dealt with so gently. Some were treated to right-between-the-eyes language.

Explanations of the complexity of the legislative process or the difficulty of getting funds seldom got far.

"You've got the power," a young white woman said curtly to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development. "If you can't do the job, then get out."

"You tell 'em sister!" shouted another member of the group as others clapped in approval.

So sympathetic was the Senate Labor subcommittee listening to his testimony in the morning that Abernathy said jokingly it seemed "stacked" in the campaign's favor.

Nine firms fined $242,500

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal judge slapped $242,500 in fines on nine plumbing manufacturing firms Tuesday for price fixing.

The nine companies, along with a 10th firm, were accused of meeting in various cities between November, 1959, and June 1962, to fix prices on $30 million worth of toilets and sinks sold each year.

The fixtures were a low-price line made of staple vitreous china and installed mostly in homes.

All the companies pleaded no defense.

Judge Louis Rosenberg meted out maximum fines of $50,000 apiece to two of the firms—Universal-Rundle Corp. of New Castle, Pa., and the Ogden Corp. of New York.

The other fines were:

- Briggs Manufacturing Co., Warren, Mich., $10,000;
- Gerber Plumbing Fixtures Corp., Chicago, $20,000;
- Mansfield Sanitary, Inc., Perrysville, Ohio, $32,500;
- Peerless Pottery Inc., Evansville, Ind., $32,500;
- Kilgore Ceramics Corp., Kilgore, Tex., $32,500;
- Lavandale Industries, Inc., Aurora, Ill., $5,000;
- and Georgia Sanitary Pottery, Inc., Atlanta, Ga., $10,000.

The lawyer for the Briggs company said the firm can't immediately come up with the cash to pay its $10,000 fine and asked for more time. Judge Rosenberg said he would try to work out an installment plan.

Another defendant, the Crane Co. of New York, which also pleaded no defense, won a delay in its sentencing Monday. Crane, trying to gain control of Westinghouse Air Brake, asked postponement of the sentence until after a May 16 meeting of Westinghouse Air Brake stockholders.

The only other defendant, the Plumbing Fixtures Manufacturers' Association of Washington, has pleaded innocent. Its case is still pending.

Also not yet disposed of is another price fixing indictment of eight plumbing firms, eight of their executives, and the trade association.

Ex-veep predicts victory

Rocky's entry healthy, Nixon says

HARRISBURG (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday he believed Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's entry into the Republican presidential race would benefit the country by providing a healthy debate on the issues of the day.

However, Nixon said he still was confident he would win the GOP nomination.

"I have always thought it would prove helpful to have another active candidate in the contest," Nixon said shortly after Rockefeller announced in Albany, N. Y., that he would campaign for the presidency.

"I believe his entry is in the best interest of the country because it will result in a meaningful debate on the issues," Nixon continued.

"It's not too late for Rockefeller. He can wage a very vigorous campaign from his strong position as governor of New York. I wouldn't criticize him for changing his mind. I still think I'll win the nomination."

Nixon was referring to Rockefeller's announcement last month that he would not actively seek the nomination.

"I was more surprised last month when he took himself out than today when he put himself back in," the former vice president quipped.

However, he chided Rockefeller for a bit for avoiding a confrontation in the primary elections throughout the country.

"I would have advised him to enter the primaries to prove the point that he is trying to make that he is more popular than I with the people," Nixon declared. "But I won't criticize the method he chose."

Nixon was in town for a previously scheduled luncheon meeting with Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer.

Which Direction?

How to check rising crime, and how best to achieve the goal of equal rights and responsibilities for all citizens, are high priority problems for our nation.

Many Americans, perhaps most of them, believe the answers lie in more and better education for everyone, improved housing, equal employment opportunities, organized public and private efforts to eliminate conditions that breed crime and human misery.

All of these call for building a better society, in physical terms and in terms of mental attitudes that will unite the country in achieving solutions. Yet a relatively small number seek "instant" cures, challenging the institutions and processes of government. They advocate civil disobedience, organized protests in various forms. A few even espouse and promote rioting and violence.

The message of Law Day USA this year reminds us that we cannot build by destroying. We cannot strengthen some freedoms by weakening others. In our communities, and in the nation, we can only advance through united action within the framework of law.

It is a message to all Americans, worth noting and remembering.

The law belongs to YOU

Some people live a lifetime without ever feeling that they are in direct, personal contact with the law. They may never be arrested, never be sued or sue anyone. They may never be summoned as a juror or a witness.

If you hold such a view you are wrong. Every day of your life you are affected by laws, and protected by them. Here are just a few examples:

- The electricity that lights your home and operates your appliances is subject to laws both as to rates and safety requirements.
- The food you eat is subject to laws of marketing and quality.
- The clothes you wear are required by law to be labeled to protect you against misrepresentation as to materials used.
- Traffic laws protect you as you drive your car.
- Labor laws establish standards of safety, working condition and hours where you work.
- Health and safety laws apply to all public facilities, including those for recreation and amusements.
- Even as you sleep, you are protected by laws setting safety and fire protection standards.

And that isn't all, by any means.

The law is the basic route by which we accomplish social gains. Through legislative enactments, at all levels of government, the will of the people is expressed and progress toward a better society is consolidated.

It always has been so, and it must continue to be if we are to retain the countless benefits of life in a lawful society.

In more ways than you realize, the law functions as your friend and protector—not as something to be feared.

St. Francis honors workers

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. — People who contribute to patient care will be spotlighted during observance of National Hospital Week by St. Francis Hospital of Port Jervis. The local community non-profit hospital is celebrating the national program May 5 to 12.

Theme for the week is "Your Hospital... People Caring for People," according to Sister Mary Jeanne, R.S.M., administrator of the hospital.

"In recent years," Sister Mary Jeanne said, "the public's attention has been focused on the tremendous technological advances hospitals have made in patient care. Certainly, new and sophisticated machines and techniques have helped immeasurably, but unfortunately it is too often forgotten that human hands must operate machines, and that technology is useless without technology."

Sister Mary Jeanne pointed out that the skills and knowledge of nearly three employees are needed to care for each patient admitted to St. Francis Hospital. She added that there are more than 200 job classifications within a hospital's walls, ranging from accountant to x-ray technician. Others are laboratory technician, engineer, laundry worker, housekeeper, maintenance worker, dietitian, cook, kitchen helper, purchasing agent, therapist, clerk, pharmacist, chaplain, personnel officer, medical records librarian, etc.

"While the personnel filling these job classifications vary in background, education and skills," Sister Mary Jeanne said, "they have a common goal... better patient care... and a firm belief that a hospital is truly People Caring for People."

National Hospital Week, sponsored by the American Hospital Association, is celebrated annually to emphasize the vital community role played by hospitals like St. Francis and other community non-profit hospitals throughout the nation.

St. Francis Hospital, in addition to setting up Hospital Week programs for residents of the region, is also beaming many of its programs towards its 168 employees.

Tocks Island muddle expected to clear up

By MARY C. BERRY
Record Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — What's going on at Tocks Island?

On paper, this multi-million dollar project seems to be in a muddle.

Appalled last year by the spiraling land costs in the area designated for the reservoir and park, one House Appropriations subcommittee ordered an investigation of the entire project.

They were justified in calling for an investigation, just from the point-of-view of land prices alone. Land in the area of the dam and the adjacent Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area was the subject of an Aug. 28, 1966, advertisement in the Newark Sunday News entitled "How You Can Make Money at Blue Mountain Lakes".

Its purpose was to entice people to buy land in the Blue Mountain Lakes Subdivision there with the idea of making a profit on the speculation going on in the vicinity.

Said this same advertisement, "Persons purchasing land now may expect to earn a profit between their purchase price and the 'fair market value' which the government may pay at the time of acquisition."

However, what began as an investigation of land prices became an investigation of spiraling costs generally and the subcommittee's staff produced a report which stated that the amount of benefits per invested dollar was sinking at Tocks Island and could sink lower because of projected losses to the New Jersey oyster industry. (The trouble was that estimates of the projected losses to the oyster industry ranged from $513,000 to $6 million.)

Despite dire predictions of the staff investigators, — actually, such investigations are usually handled by teams chosen from the Federal Bureau of Investigation — the subcommittee will probably not throw any wrenches into the machinery of the project. At least one congressman whose district is directly affected by what happens at Tocks Island has received assurances from important members of the Appropriations Committee that the $4 million appropriation will go uncut.

In the Senate, the chairman of an identical subcommittee huffed a bit at having to give the project another nickel, but his past actions indicate that he will probably give it many more.

Appropriations for the adjacent recreation area are the purview of another appropriations subcommittee—the one which deals with the Department of Interior's requests for funds. This committee wanted to know earlier this year why the Park Service hadn't spent its last year's appropriation and yet was asking for more money this year. The Park Service neatly sidestepped this—They said they gave their money to the Army Corps of Engineers and that the Corps then bought land for both the reservoir and the park. They said that it was more economical this way and the laid the blame for footdragging on the Corps.

In defense of the Corps, they said that the land prices were rising less rapidly than they had in the past.

All of this gives the bystander a strange feeling about this project and others like it. Not that Tocks Island Reservoir will never be built—it probably will, even if it is slowed down by official red tape and austerity cuts in appropriations on the floor of the House and Senate this year.

Tocks Island is considered a worthwhile project, both as a dam and as a recreation area. When completed, the Park Service estimates that more people will visit it than any other park in the system. It is within 100 miles of some 30 million people. It will be a recreation haven in the midst of magalopolis.

But it all makes a taxpayer wonder at the efficiency with which his money is being spent by the federal government.

Bottle launched in Wayne found far away in Indiana

NEWFOUNDLAND — The plastic bottle bobbed merrily along the Maumee River in Port Wayne, Ind., near where the St. Joseph's and the St. Mary's Rivers join to create the Maumee, whose waters flow through Toledo, Ohio, and empty into Lake Erie.

Nick Stoy, a 15-year-old Port Wayne lad, walking along the riverbank with his family, retrieved the bottle and opened it. And — shades of Robinson Crusoe — there was a note in it!

"To the finder of this bottle," Nick read, "Would you be so kind as to fill in the information below and send it to Ritchie Haag, Hawley, Pennsylvania?"

Not only did Nick fill in the information that he lived on Beacon Street in Port Wayne, Ind., and details of where he found the bottle, but his mother also sent a note to the Haags, expressing wonder at how the bottle could have floated West and reached a river flowing northeast.

So far, Ritchie's bottle is the only one that has been found. Others were launched in the Lackawaxen at the same time — March 30 — by members of Den 3, Cub Pack 401 of Hawley, each containing the same request. Ritchie's bottle was found on April 23, having traveled at least 600 miles to reach the mid-western city.

The Hawley cub scout is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haag, formerly of Newfoundland. His father is basketball coach at Wallenpaupack Area Joint High School.

It can't. It can't. Absolutely. A long snaky run like this can't happen to Cameo End/Run seamless sheers. Yet they're every bit as sheer and airy, as gauzy and as gossamer, as deliciously female as any 15 denier seamless stockings that do run. What stops runs from starting is a "Pin Point Stitch"—which gives these End/Runs a matte finish and prevents color streaking, too. Of course, no sheer stocking is invulnerable. The Allen-Scott Report

United Nations may be promoted

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — As the major powers of the world flounder from crisis to crisis, a proposal is gathering steam in the United States and other key areas of the world to promote the United Nations as a forum for a state-of-mankind message.

The controversial plan, originating at the left-leaning Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, California, calls for United Nations Secretary-General U Thant to deliver the unprecedented report over a worldwide satellite television-radio hook-up.

Groups and individuals supporting the concept of world government, including the World Federalists and a number of liberal U. S. senators, are promoting the idea in connection with the international organization's Human Rights Year, now underway.

In this country resolutions are now before the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs committees to have Congress direct President Johnson to call on U Thant to discuss the principal issues confronting mankind in these troubled times.

According to chief sponsors Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Rep. Fernand J. St Germain, D-R.I., the main objective of this special message would be:

"To galvanize large numbers of people all over the world into taking steps to solve problems such as those posed by increased population, arms races, war, poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, and the need for conservation of natural resources."

Under their proposals, the mass media would be used to weld all the diverse peoples of the world "into brothers who recognize that their common interests are far more important than their differences."

Roll call

Other Senate sponsors of the little-noted resolution include senators Joseph Clark, D-Pa., Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii; Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; George McGovern, D-S.D.; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex.; Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md.; Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md.; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska; Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Abraham Ribicoff, R-Conn.

The sponsors of the resolutions are now pushing for congressional action at this session of Congress and have made a formal request to the State Department to obtain the Johnson Administration's views.

Already, Sen. Proxmire has received a carefully hedged endorsement of his proposal from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in an exchange of letters that brought the following reply:

"Frankly, I am not in a position to comment with any deep understanding about the practical value of a United Nations report on the State of the World."

"However, I do believe that if such a report were prepared objectively and without bias of any kind, it would be a valuable document to every government in the world — to say nothing of its interest to the ordinary but thoughtful citizens.

"I think that this kind of report should be welcomed by every American, regardless of party or classification as either liberal or conservative."

Spokesman for mankind

In discussing the intriguing proposal with other senate colleagues, Proxmire credited Frank K. Kelly, vice president of the center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, as being originator of the idea.

Proxmire also reveals that it was Kelly who encouraged him to write Eisenhower for his support after Kelly had briefed the former President.

With help from the worldwide operating Ford Foundation, and the World Federalists, Kelly has been in contact with hundreds of officials of foreign governments and private groups overseas, whipping up support for U Thant or some other noted world figure to become the spokesman for mankind.

In one speech boosting the idea recently, Kelly stated:

"My startling proposition is that a world society has already come into being, although we are not fully aware of its growth and its effects on the future of every one of us."

"This is the first age in which the word 'mankind' has a universal vibration in the minds and souls of men. So I call for an annual report on the state of mankind — to be broadcast in color and beauty around the world."

Kelly proposed that the Report to Humanity, as he refers to it, could be "an instrument for implementing the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted by the U.N. nearly 20 years ago."

Secular encyclical

In addition to a special report in 1968, Kelly suggested that a regular state-of-mankind message be made once a year — perhaps on the last Sunday in January — and the U.N. Secretary-General be given several hours of prime time on all broadcasting networks. The message would be translated into every language.

Another vigorous supporter of the idea, Frank L. Keegan, of the Ford Foundation, in a letter endorsing the plan, stated:

"The annual report on the state of mankind would be a secular encyclical, a temporal witness to human faith, world hope and international charity."

Other backers of the controversial proposal argue that "mankind needs a spokesman" and that the president of the U. N. General Assembly, since he is elected by that body, should be the speaker for the community of man.

Since Proxmire plans to solicit the views of presidential candidates and hopefuls, the proposal could become a major issue in the 1968 campaign. He also wants other Americans to write their congressmen now expressing views on U Thant's acting as such a spokesman.

questions. When I get through poking, drilling and inspecting to see what the house is made of and when I've completed measuring wall thicknesses, how far the basement rises above ground, etc., I'll know more about our place than I did when we bought it.

The government promises that after sending in the forms, it will study the answers and then tell us how much fallout protection our home provides, which is the safest part of the house and how the shelter area can be made safer.

And it assures us that our final fallout-protection rating will be kept confidential, "between the Census Bureau and you." Why is that I wonder? Could it be that if our home has a better rating than our neighbors' they might force their way into our basement when the sirens begin? The government sounds pretty nervous if you ask me.

Of course, all of this is nonsense and smacks of a "make-work" project for Census Bureau employees waiting to tackle the next census. Because, as everyone knows, fallout contaminates the air and the government has not yet told us what it is we're supposed to breathe in our shelters! And, besides, why should some enemy country bother to destroy our cities when we're destroying them ourselves?

Sources of debris must be curtailed

Springtime and cleanliness are an annual love affair and this year is no exception.

Boroughs throughout Monroe County are presently in the midst of cleanup campaigns, which includes streets, roadways, buildings, etc.

The Poconos must remain clean to continue as the number one tourist attraction in this section of the United States. An unclean Poconos would also be an unpopular Poconos.

Unpopularity would be fatal to this region. There are a number of sources of accumulation of debris, dirt and trash. Most of these sources have been fought for years with a varying degree of success.

During Monday's breezy afternoon hours, it became quite evident that open box cars on the sidings of the Erie and Lackawanna Railroad were a source of trouble to East Stroudsburg.

The breeze blew paper, light pieces of wood and light wire from the open box cars to the ground and then down the bank to Crystal St. and against the wall of Burnley Workshop.

If the doors of the idle box cars were kept closed one more source of debris would be reduced in East Stroudsburg. We might call it the closed door policy.

The reduction of sources of litter would aid greatly in the struggle to keep our area clean.

True, workers at Burnley Workshop aid in cleaning up the dirt that blows from the box cars. However, some of the debris does escape to other areas and makes spring cleanup an additionally difficult task.

Everyone has to join in the battle to keep the area clean. Every company has to do its share, as does every store and every person.

A successful battle against litter and debris must be a cooperative venture.

Unanimous verdict

A reputation constructed as a school teacher and citizen was very much in evidence Monday night as Jerome Rine was cleared of "misconduct" charges during a special meeting of the East Stroudsburg School Board.

Rine, a fifth grade teacher at Smithfield School, was cleared of the charge by a unanimous 9-0 vote of the board.

All through the hearing which lasted over five hours, a large following of well wishers waited patiently outside the school to receive word of the verdict.

The crowd ranged well over 50 people from time to time and at the moment of the verdict, 12:45 a.m., there were still 20 people waiting outside and virtually all of the 30 witnesses remained inside the school building.

As defense attorney Peter J. O'Brien said, it's a man's reputation and character that count in cases of this type — and Rine had many boosters in this battle.

Rine now returns to the classroom an even better teacher than when he left. Students have always known him to be a good teacher. Now they know him to be a good citizen of high character and with many, many friends — The type of friends who would have waited all night to see his name cleared.

While facing charges and living a time of anguish, Rine must have been strengthened by the many expressions of support and the offer of more than 100 persons to serve as witnesses.

Although facing charges of misconduct is never pleasant, Jerome Rine emerged with the reputation of a solid citizen and respected teacher.

Credit of this type is a just reward for any man in any walk of life.

RFK — Nothing to stand in way

It is a pity that Senator Robert Kennedy of New York is impelled to compete with a dead brother. This one was the smallest of the family. When his parents went out, he hid from the wrath of his older brother Joe, in his room. His brother John crouched at the head of the stairs to defend Bobby.

When Eugene McCarthy braved the New Hampshire primaries, Bobby hid in the dark until it was over. Then, bravely, he emerged to destroy McCarthy.

It is an irony of our times that we know where everyone else stands—Rockefeller, Nixon, Wallace, McCarthy, Humphrey—but we know nothing of Kennedy except his ambition to be President of the United States. Can anyone explain what he has done for New York State as United States Senator? Who can assess his record as United States Attorney General?

I first met him on Dec. 11, 1955, at the Waldorf-Astoria. I was the principal speaker at a Notre Dame Alumni breakfast. He had completed a trip through Russia and wanted to show his color slides. I looked him over: skinny, tense, prepared to explain Russia's problems to Russia.

Boring testimony

A year later a group of editors asked me to go to Washington to write a close-up story on James Riddle Hoffa. I wrote to Bobby, who was counsel to the McClellan Committee, to send whatever ammunition he had against Hoffa. He sent four bound volumes of boring testimony. Nowhere had anyone indicted Hoffa—at that time—for any crime.

When the series of articles was published, no one took umbrage at what I thought was objective treatment, except Kennedy. He didn't complain to me. He wrote to all the editors "over my head." You know the type. When I answered his charges directly to him, he wrote back that I was showing off for my bosses.

To the contrary, John F. Kennedy was a fan of mine. I was the only writer with him all day the day he was nominated in Los Angeles. In Oct. 1963, a month before his trip to Dallas, I was the last author to be with him. We got along. I appreciated his youth and his idealism, but I never thought of him as a great President.

In early 1964, I told Jacqueline Kennedy that I was writing a book about the assassination. She asked me not to write it. Instead, Bobby picked William Manchester. All he had to do was to represent the widow and help the author to get out a good book. Need I remind you that Bobby and Jacqueline soiled the book with threats, lawsuits and charges of "poor taste"?

Laden with advisers

He is laden with all the advisers that a rich kid can afford, and yet he fouled his own book. Bobby was coyly shy with Lyndon Johnson until he learned that Johnson would not take him on the ticket in 1964. At once, Bobby quit as Attorney General and established a hurry-up residence in New York so that, as Jack's survivor, he could run as U. S. Senator in a state where the people of the East Side didn't understand his accent, nor he theirs.

As long as he was certain that President Johnson controlled the Democratic Party, Bobby went along. The moment that Eugene McCarthy proved in New Hampshire that Johnson was vulnerable, Kennedy began what he likes to refer to as an "agonizing reappraisal" of his position.

The term means that someone is going to be hurt, and it isn't going to be Bobby. Overnight he decided to run for the Presidency.

When John Kennedy died, a friend of mine visited the White House at the request of Lyndon Johnson. A Kennedy aide phoned the same day: "Listen, Buster," the voice said. "We know about your visit to Johnson. It took us 16 years to put Jack in the White House; it's going to take 12 to put Bobby there. We'll remember you."

It doesn't matter whether you like Robert Kennedy or not; he seems determined to move into the White House. John Herbers of the New York Times visited the Kennedy-for-President headquarters on 20th and L Streets in Washington. It is on three big floors and "it is the largest operation among current contenders for the Presidency... Here, behind an enormous switchboard where people come and go is the Kennedy management team, or rather, three teams interlocked..."

Give me one reason why, having elected one brother by the narrowest of margins, we must elect another? We can still criticize Bobby Kennedy, as this column attests. If he is elected...

Irving Berlin 80 this month

NEW YORK — And then he wrote: Marie from Sunny Italy, Christmas Time Seems Years and Years Away, I Just Came Back To Say Goodbye, I Wish You Was My Gal, Molly, Oh, Where Is My Wife Tonight? and That Mesmerizing Mendelssohn Tune.

But that was from 1907 to 1909, and it also included Sadie Salome, Go Home, Stop That Rag (keep on playing honey), Wild Cherries Rag and Yiddle On Your Fiddle Play Some Ragtime.

Well, along came 1910 and with it he wrote, Alexander and His Clarinet, Bring Back My Lena To Me, Call Me Up Some Rainy Afternoon, Dreams Just Dreams, Herman, Let's Dance That Beautiful Waltz, Innocent Bessie Brown, That Kazzatzky Dance, When I Hear You Play That Piano Bill, Wishing and Yiddish Eyes.

He started out in 1911 with a number named after the honeymoon which didn't do too well. But then he came along with Alexander's Ragtime Band, Bring Back My Lovin' Man, Dal's-A My Gal, Doggona That Chilly Man, There's A Girl In Havana, When You Kiss An Italian Girl, Woodman, Woodman, Spare That Tree and Yiddish Nightingale.

Some may forget that he started off in 1912 with Alexander's Rag-Pipe Band and went on to Beeky's Got A Job In A Musical Show, Don't Leave Your Wife Alone, I'm Going Back To Dixie, Million Dollar Ball, A True Born Soldier Man, Take A Tip From Father, When The Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves for Alabam', and The Yiddish Professor.

Now you take 1913. It brought Jake! Jake! The Yiddisher Ball Player, Daddy Come Home, Down In Chattanooga, Monkey Doodle Doo, The Pullman Porters On Parade, San Francisco Bound, Snookey Cokums, You Picked A Bad Day To Say Goodbye and You've Got Your Mother's Big Blue Eyes.

He led off 1914 with Along Came Ruth, Come To The Land Of The Argentinian, and went on to Furnishing A Home For Two, He's A Devil In His Own Home Town, If I Had You, If That's Your Idea Of A Wonderful Time (take me home!), I Hate You, I Love To Have The Boys Around Me, It Isn't What He Said But The Way He Said It, The Minstrel Parade, Move Over, Play A Simple Melody, The Syncopated Walk, This Is The Life, What Is Love? and When It's Night Time In Dixie Land.

Araby was one of his hot ones in 1915, also Cohen Owes Me 97 Dollars, The Girl On The Magazine Cover, I Love To Stay At Home, Si's Been Drinking Cider, and While The Band Played (an American rag). The next year stirred up The Chicken Walk, He's Getting Too Damn Big For A One-Horse Town, Hurry Back To My Bamboo Shack, I'm Down In Honolulu Looking Them Over, Stop Look and Listen, Teach Me How To Love, and When The Black Sheep Returns To The Fold.

He was never bothered by the weight problem, but in 1917 he wrote Dance And Grow Thin, and For Your Country And My Country, It Takes An Irishman To Make Love, Let's All Be Americans Now, Poor Little Rich Girl's Dog, Smile And Show Your Dimple, There's Something Nice About The South and Whose Little Heart Are You Breathing Now?

He was in the Army in 1918, as any fool could see: The Blue Devils Of France, Goodbye France, I Can Always Find A Little Sunshine In The Y.M.C.A., I'm Gonna Pin A Medal On The Girl I Left Behind, Kitchen Police.

He was barely beginning. In the 1920s came I'll See You In C-U-B-A, Girl Of My Dreams, All By Myself, Say It With Music, Lady Of The Evening, All Alone, What'll I Do, Who, Always, Remember, Blue Skies, Russian Lullabye, Marie, Puttin' On The Ritz, and Mammy.

But that leaves the 1930s, 1940s, 1950s, 1960s and the plan he has for the 1970s. We're talking, of course, about Irving Berlin — who'll be 80 this month.

Put house in order

WASHINGTON — Until recently the Federal Government seems to have concentrated on the small businessman when it comes to pestering folks with complicated forms which must be filled out and returned immediately. Now, I'm afraid, it's the homeowner's turn.

Just when most of us thought we'd have a brief period to relax after wrestling with our tax forms we have received a four-page form asking us to evaluate our homes as fallout shelters. These forms were inspired by the Office of Civil Defense and are being collected by the Census Bureau.

Presumably, the government thinks there will be enough homes left standing at the end of this summer's riots to provide shelter in case of nuclear attack. Speaking as a man who lives in the center of a burned-out area, I should say that this is an optimistic view.

Frankly, I don't think my home could withstand a Molotov cocktail, let alone an atomic bomb. However, the government assumes that there will be some dwellings left after a big H-bomb blast and that surviving citizens will need protection from fallout.

Much probing

If the forms have been distributed in your area, you already know that a man practically has to be an engineer to answer some of the

Don't keep secret

Dear Ann Landers: Girls often have asked you this question, but I can't recall that a fellow has ever written in about it. Please help me.

When I was a senior in high school the girl I was going steady with became pregnant. I was in no position to get married, and even if I had been I would not have picked that girl. She knew it and did not try to force the issue.

The girl had her baby and put it up for adoption. Two years later she married a nice young fellow and they are getting along fine so far as I know.

I am a senior in college now and have been going with a wonderful girl. We plan to marry after graduation in June. I have never asked questions about her love life and I am hoping she will not ask questions about mine.

You have always counseled girls to keep their mouths shut about their past indiscretions. Does this go for fellows as well?

—NEBRASKA QUESTIONER
Dear Neb.: There is an important distinction between "indiscretions" and live babies.

I have said a girl does not owe her fiancé a score card listing the names and numbers of the previous players. The same holds true for the fellow. An out-of-wedlock child, however, is something else and should not be kept a secret.

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound like a dumb question but I need an answer.

When a person is served stewed prunes what is he supposed to do with the pits?

I always thought it was proper to spit the pits into the spoon and leave them on the plate. I did this recently at a breakfast and got some very dirty looks. What's the word, Ann?

—BAFFLED
Dear Baffled: I can't imagine what else you'd do with prune pits but put them on the plate. This should be done as quietly as possible. When a pit hits fine china or thin crystal it makes a ping-pong sound which creates attention. Maybe THAT'S your problem.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter signed "I'll Be Dog-goned." I hope the man doesn't listen to you because if he sacrifices his dog for that crazy girl he will live to regret it. You said, "It shouldn't happen to a dog." I say it shouldn't happen to man.

So what if the dog eats of the same dishes? Anyone who knows anything will tell you that a dog's mouth is more sanitary than a human's. You remember the phrase "cleaner than a hound's tooth"?

I have had many dogs in my life and many women. Put them side by side and the dog wins every time. He is more honest, more faithful, more loving and less trouble.

—CLYDE

Dear Clyde: So why don't you move into the kennel and call it a day? Your paw-print signature was my laugh for the day. Thanks for writing.

Family game

Some married couples are so perfectly suited to one another, it makes you sick. They agree on the budget, children, what to have for dinner, and where to go on a vacation.

My husband and I hung wallpaper together once and, for the next three weeks he slept with one of the kids in the bunk bed. Our friends regard this as something of a joke. "You two should have at least one hobby or sport that you share," they said. "Remember, 'The family that plays together stays together.'"

We decided to take up golf as a team. They were laying bets at the clubhouse we'd end up like Marlin and Lewis.

"Why don't you carry your bag like I do?" he said. "It distributes the weight better. You look like someone in their last hour at labor camp."

"Gee, Arnold Palmer. I didn't know you were such a big authority on labor or I'd have let you have the last three kids."

"There you go. Twisting everything. You tee off first. It'll take you 15 strokes to get into the rough."

"You'd like that, wouldn't you. (Bop.) Where did it go?" "That's called a hook. You can look for it after I tee off." (Bop.)

"Where did it go?"

"That's called a slice."

"Now what happens?"

"I'll tell you what happens. You take off for the highway and look for your ball and I'll take off for the woods and look for mine. Meet you at the second hole."

We never saw one another again until the 18th hole.

"Where did you go?" he said. "I waited for you at the second hole."

"I came back and you were gone so I played by myself."

"Tell me," he said, "are the fairways nice here?"

"I don't know," I said, "I've been playing back and forth between a ditch and Interstate 71. What about you?"

"Oh, I've hit a few tractors and sunk a few shots in gopher holes but nothing on the green yet. Well, here's the last hole. Shall we tee off?"

I hooked and he sliced. Just outside the clubhouse, we smiled at each other and walked in together.

"You're right," I said to the startled crowd, "the family that plays together stays together."

"I think the term is 'plays' together," amended my husband.

"Look, Doctor Peale, I say the expression is 'plays' together..."

"Why don't you send your mouth to Arizona to visit your sinuses," he shouted.

"And how would you like to wear your nine-iron home around your neck..."

Poached fish in lemon bouillon is an elegant way to serve a whole fish, simmered in a lemony bouillon

Fisherman's choice

New ways with trout

By LINDA PIPHER

STROUDSBURG — What tastes better in the spring than freshly caught trout browned in butter? If the fishermen (and fisher-women) enjoy a day along the streams catching the fish, we who sit at home and wait enjoy the eating just as much.

In the house of a fisherman it is a cardinal sin to remove the head and tail of a trout, for the whole fish must be put on the plate ready to eat. Then, and only then, it is permissible to cut off the head and tail if you find it impossible to properly savor the fish while staring at his eyeshead.

To cook trout, I sprinkle the inside with salt, roll the fish in flour, and brown on both sides in melted butter. It is difficult to give exact time because it varies with the size of fish. If you have an assortment of sizes, put the big ones in first to cook for about ten minutes before adding the small trout. In general, large trout take from twenty to thirty minutes, small ones from fifteen to twenty. When it flakes easily, the trout is done, and don't overcook because dried trout is tasteless.

If you are fortunate enough to be supplied with an abundance of trout during the season, perhaps you would like to have them some new ways. They can be poached whole just as the striped bass in the photo. First you make an easily prepared lemon bouillon in which to poach the fish — it gives it a wonderful flavor.

Poached Fish in Lemon Bouillon
7 to 8 cups water
1 bunch fresh celery, quartered, with leaves
1 fresh carrot
1 lemon, sliced into wedges
1 medium sized onion, sliced
1 whole clove garlic
2 sprigs fresh parsley
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1½ tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon whole black pepper
1 bay leaf
2 pounds striped bass or large trout
Fresh lemon peel for garnish

In large saucepan or fish poacher bring water to boil. Tie celery and carrot together with string. Drop into boiling water. Add remaining ingredients except fish. Cook for 30 minutes to develop flavor. Remove tied vegetables from bouillon, if desired. Place fish on rack and immerse in lemon bouillon. Entire fish should not be covered with liquid. Poach fish in simmering water 15 minutes or until done. Garnish with very finely sliced lemon peel.

Strange as it may seem, beer is often used as a poaching liquid. The trout are placed in a skillet, barely covered with beer, and poached with a few seasonings. Sound interesting?

Fresh Trout Poached in Beer
4 fresh trout, cleaned
Beer
1 tablespoon dehydrated minced onion
2 bay leaves
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Lay trout flat in a large, heavy skillet. Add beer until trout are just covered. Add onion, bay leaves and lemon juice. Heat until beer simmers and cook 15 to 20 minutes or until trout is just done. Remove and serve immediately. Yields four servings.

The next recipe comes from a new cookbook of mine, "Going Wild In The Kitchen" by Gertrude Parke. The book is published by David McKay Company, Inc., New York, in case you're interested, and contains recipes for cooking all kinds of fish and game. There is even a section on gathering and using wild greens, vegetables, herbs, and mushrooms from the woods and fields.

I have never baked trout, but would like to experiment with this recipe, if my husband and son bring home the fish!

Baked Brook Trout

4 trout, prepared for cooking
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening
2 slices bacon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter, melted
Minced parsley
Freshly grated nutmeg
Season cavities with salt and pepper. Brown the fish quickly in hot shortening. Arrange in baking dish, cover with bacon slices, and sprinkle with lemon juice and melted butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, or until the fish flakes. Serve on a hot platter. Sprinkle minced parsley over fish and grate a little nutmeg on top.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Life is real and life is earnest — but that doesn't mean that it has to be eternally grim. To be participants or activists may mean protesting injustice, working in partisan politics, and shaking up smug elders by looking the way they wish you wouldn't.

But participating in life also means enjoying youth and health and the surge of Springtime. As students in the depression we had much to be grim about, knowing the sacrifice each dollar toward our education was exacting from our families.

But in the grind for grades to prove we were worth the effort and in the doing-without, we seemed far gayer, less world-weary of simple pleasures than the popular picture of students I've gathered from press reports and television today.

To serve four, you'll need at least 1½ pounds of lean boneless meat when making a stew. Use at least two pounds if the meat is bone-in.

Yost, Sebring sign Wallace petitions

STROUDSBURG — Two Republican Monroe County officeholders Tuesday confirmed that they have signed nominating petitions for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace for president.

Both county Sheriff Forrest B. Sebring, and Register and Recorder Carl Yost said they were signers of the petitions circulated this spring in the area by Franklin E. Miller, Stroudsburg R.D. 5, and resort operator Paul Brenn, Swiftwater.

Sebring and Yost are both serving in their first term of office after easily winning election to their posts.

According to reports from an examination of the Wallace petitions on file with the State Bureau of Elections and Commissions in Harrisburg, an estimated 14,000 persons have signed the petitions, enough to place Wallace on the ballot as the presidential candidate for the American Independent Party.

Wallace, Democrat, is campaigning for the presidency in a nationwide tour that has taken him into Pennsylvania only recently.

The former governor has been a longtime outspoken advocate of race-separation and reportedly has a southern state bloc support.

Both Yost and Sebring when asked for comment on the petition, minimized the importance of attaching their names to Wallace papers that will place him on the Pennsylvania ballot.

Yost said "I sign all petitions" adding that he meant any reasonable and intelligent papers.

"It's a policy with me, Yost added, "people signed petitions for me when I was campaigning for office."

Yost said that although a number of persons signed petitions on his behalf not all of those citizens voted for him.

"Skip (Miller) just came in one day and said he needed a few more signatures, and so I signed it," Yost said.

According to Yost, the signature does not indicate any support of Wallace, "I haven't followed anything up on it since it was signed," he said.

"He has a right to be on the ballot," Yost concluded.

Sheriff Sebring echoed the words of the Register and Recorder saying that he signed for almost the same reasons, "People signed petitions for me," Sebring said.

He said that he believed that Wallace had every right to be placed on the Pennsylvania ballot for the presidency.

county cooperative extension service for the annual event in which more than 200 4-H young people and adults visited the state capital.

Active sessions of both the House and Senate chambers were witnessed by the visitors. Eric and Sonia, from their 10-minute visit, thought the sessions were a little confusing.

"For just a day and a half we did accomplish and see a lot, spending some time in the William Penn Memorial Museum," Sonia added.

One of the things we did was form a committee and simulated the actions that we would take as legislators representing our constituents, Sonia said. Sonia had the opportunity to speak with State Senator T. Newell Wood during the breakfast with legislators, and both talked with Rep. J. Russell Eshback.

"I was surprised at the number of committees Rep. Eshback is active on," Sonia commented.

STROUDSBURG — "I don't believe it's really hit me yet. It's kinda hard to realize that I won," Darlene Ann Edinger of Stroudsburg said Monday night after being named Miss Wyoming Valley in a preliminary to the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant.

Miss Edinger was picked as the winner from 11 contestants during ceremonies held in West Pittston High School, West Pittston.

She will now be a contestant in the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant in Hershey, June 15.

WVPO sets radio month

STROUDSBURG — "May marks National Radio Month," Chester S. Miller, general manager of WVPO, said Tuesday night, "and WVPO will participate in broadcasting special features during the month."

More than 4,000 radio stations across the United States, all members of the National Association of Broadcasters, join in during the month in sponsoring the celebration.

The theme this year is "Radio ... The All-American Sound."

Joey Schroeder, pretty blonde ESSC sophomore who was just named Miss ESSC graced the Pocono Record's page one for the second time within two months this week.

Miss Schroeder was a recent Girl-of-the-Month for the Record adding to her honors at the area college.

"It looked like some of the legislators were just sitting there without interest, suddenly the speaker would call for a vote and they would all react and afterwards they would go and read some papers or do something else," Jensen recalled.

The visit really should be extended to three or four days, thought Jensen, to make the trip more worthwhile.

"For just a day and a half we did accomplish and see a lot, spending some time in the William Penn Memorial Museum," Sonia added.

It's do or die — Community Chest 1968 goal $132,756

STROUDSBURG — The board of directors of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council yesterday decided to "go for broke" in the 1968-69 fund campaign, setting their goal at $132,756.

This represents an increase of more than $8,500 over last year's quota and an $11,500 over the actual amount raised.

It also represents a change in philosophy, in that the directors over-rode the recommendations of both its social planning and budget committees. Both committees had cut, in some cases drastically, the requests of the member agencies, keeping in mind that for the past four years the campaigns had fallen short of the goals set.

Challenging the total of $126,556 recommended by the budget committee, little more than $2,000 over last year's goal, were the chairmen of this year's industrial campaign committee, Jesse Flory and William Wyckoff.

"The Community Chest's emphasis should be on services not number of dollars," Flory said.

Wyckoff termed it "unrealistic" to expect agencies to provide increasing services to an increasing population with the same or nominally increased funds when the cost of living and increase in salaries were rising sharply.

Wyckoff referred to the year's recommendations of the ad hoc committee. That recommendation was two-fold: to set the goals to meet realistic budgets of member agencies; and, if those goals were not reached, to prorate the deficit among the agencies.

Rev. William Giles reported for the Social Planning committee, pointing out that the committee, in view of the operating deficit, had been far less generous this year in its allocations.

He and Harry Lee, chairman of the budget committee, discussed each agency in turn comparing last year's budget, the amount requested and their recommendations.

Passed without discussion were those allocations which gave agencies the full amount requested:

Burnley Workshop: $8,500 representing $1,000 increase over last year.

The General Hospital of Monroe County, $12,500 the same amount as requested last year.

USO, $1,300 representing $1 for each serviceman from Monroe County.

The directors restored portions of the recommended cuts in the remaining agency requests:

Boy Scouts were allocated $11,500, representing $1,500 more than last year but less than the $12,600 requested.

Girl Scouts, $9,500, which is $850 more than last year. They had requested $11,350.

Guidance Center, $4,000 which they had requested, $500 more than last year.

Mental Health Assn. $750. They had requested $1,200. The allocation is $150 more than last year.

Red Cross: $18,000 which is $1,000 actual increase. They had been voted as $500 emergency grant last year. The requested $20,120.

Salvation Army: $19,500, an increase of $1,500. They had requested $21,000.

Visiting Nurse Assn., $9,000, an increase of $500 against a requested $9,500.

YMCA, $16,300 representing an increase of $350 and the total amount requested this year.

Unchanged from the amounts recommended by the social planning and budget committee were, the amounts for administrative and campaign expenses of the Chest: $9,632 for administration, and increase of $407; and $9,774 for campaign, an increase of $449.

Another increase voted by the board was in the contingent fund of $1,000 which was raised to $2,500 to be used to replace the funds drawn from reserves to miss the past year's deficit.

The directors expressed appreciation to Harry Lee and Rev. William Giles for their conscientious work in doing the job the board had asked them to do.

Participating agencies will be asked to participate actively in the fund raising by providing workers from their boards.

John H. Parker, 1968-69 fund campaign chairman, accepted the $132,756 goal without public comment.

STROUDSBURG — A virtuoso pianist who has been associated with Curtis Institute of Music for all of his adult life will be featured with the world-famous Curtis String Quartet during a free concert Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the East Stroudsburg High School Auditorium.

Vladimir Sokoloff, a native of New York City, who entered Curtis Institute when he was 19 years old and two decades later — as student and faculty member — still is there, will play.

Dr. Sokoloff began his piano training with the late Thel Burnham, an English pianist, in Manhattan. After a thorough grounding under his tutelage, he was enrolled at Curtis where he studied with Abraham Chasins. He continued his studies with Chasins for five years, and after graduation from Curtis began a 15-year-long association with Efrem Zimbalist as his accompanist for recitals.

During this same period, he also accompanied most of the other solo artists on the American concert stage, including Anna Moffo.

Upon Zimbalist's retirement from the concert stage, he was admitted to the faculty of Curtis Institute, where, in 1959, he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Music degree in recognition of his contributions to the school.

He has recorded, both as a solo artist and as a member of various chamber music groups, including the Curtis Quartet, on the Westminster, Columbia and Victor labels.

The concert is being given by Dr. Sokoloff and members of the Curtis Quartet as a benefit for the Mid Atlantic Music and Arts Center and the Pocono Music Festival, which will operate this summer at Onawa Lodge, Mountainhome.

The concert is free and the public is invited to attend. During the intermission, details about MAMAC and the festival will be given to those attending by Spencer Cramer, Shawnee-on-Delaware, a member of the center's board of directors.

A brochure, listing the 31 concerts to be held during the festival, from Sunday, June 23, through Sunday, August 4, also will be distributed at that time.

Only 13 of 23 still hold jobs

Kosco, Valdespino best of draftees

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Valdespino and Andy Kosco, a pair of former Minnesota Twins, appear to be the best of the lot of 23 players drafted last November for a total of $24,000.

Due to the illness of Rico Carty, the Atlanta Braves, regular left fielder, Valdespino has been getting a chance to play more than expected.

Valdespino was with the Twins for parts of three seasons but was slumped to the Denver farm club to make room for young talent on the Twins' roster. As a result he was eligible for the minor league draft and was selected by the Braves for $25,000.

Kosco, sold by the Twins to the Oakland A's last fall was put on the A's Vancouver roster instead of the big club. The Yankees, who had their eye on him for some time, grabbed him for $25,000.

Only 13 of the 23 draftees still are on major league rosters.

The Chicago Cubs have three of the six draftees still left in the National League. Jose Arcia, a young Cuban picked from the St. Louis Cardinals' system, opened the season for the Chicagoans at second base but is a utility man.

He will be handy when the young Cub infielders have to leave for military duty.

Ramon Hernandez, a left-handed pitcher who was with Atlanta in 1967 but also was sent out in the fall, has seen occasional relief work with the Cubs. Catcher Bill Plummer, snatched from the Cards, has been sitting.

Chuck Hiller, a seven-year major league vet who also found himself in the minors due to the Phillies' roster problems last fall, got another chance when Pittsburgh drafted him for $25,000.

Cincinnati gambled on a $25,000 draft of catcher Jim Schaffer, another veteran left unprotected by the Phils at San Diego.

The New York Yankees think they grabbed a worthwhile player in Kosco. The outfielder was outstanding in the Yankee training camp and is hitting .364 as a part-time performer. He filled in for Mickey Mantle at first in Sunday's second game with Detroit and hit a home run.

Valdespino is hitting .333.

Minnesota has two draftees on its list, catcher Bruce Look, who would be welcomed back into the Dodger organization if the Twins would let him go, and Jim Holt, a 23-year-old outfielder who was selected from the Oakland A's. Holt has been used as a pinch hitter.

Washington was fortunate to have drafted Bill Bryan in early season when Paul Casanova was injured. The veteran catcher, picked from the New York Yankees' farm at Syracuse, is a capable back-up man.

Catchers were in great demand in the draft. Elrod Hendricks, a home run hitter in the Mexican League, has been seeing some action with the Baltimore Orioles. However, the conversion of Curt Blefary into a catcher and the hitting of Andy Etchebarren may make him excess baggage.

Cleveland picked off Ken Suarez, a former Kansas City chafel who was admired by Alvin Dark, new manager of the Indians.

The very first draftee at the Mexico City meetings was Ed Sprague, a submarine ball relief pitcher from the Cards' system. The selection of Sprague was Joe DiMaggio's first official act as executive vice-president of the Oakland A's. Sprague has been used in relief.

The others are back in the minors. Boston returned outfielder George Spriggs to Pittsburgh's Columbus farm, and the Yankees farmed out infielder Ken Poulson and pitcher Dale Spier to their Binghamton, N.Y. farm.

Skip Lockwood, picked by Houston, was returned to the A's farm at Vancouver, ex-Dodger pitcher Joe Moeller went back to Los Angeles' Spokane club, and shortstop Ted Martinez returned to the Mets at Jacksonville.

The New York Mets' two picks were returned to their original owners, outfielders Clyde Mashore to the Cincinnati Reds' top farm and Don Wilkin-son to the California Angels' Seattle link.

Bucs edge Chicago in ninth, 4-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch hitter Manny Mota laced a two-run double with two out in the ninth inning, capping a three-run rally that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night.

Mota's hit off Chicago reliever Bill Stoneman delivered the tying and winning runs in a comeback that erased two Cub runs in the top of the ninth. Singles by Willie Stargell and Gene Alley around a walk to Bill Mazeroski produced the Pirates' first run in the ninth.

The Cubs snapped a 1-1 tie against Pittsburgh reliever Bob Moose when Adolfo Phillips singled with two out, stole second and scored on a pinch single by Al Spangler. Spangler took second on the throw to the plate and scored what appeared to be an insurance run on Don Kessinger's single.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles scored three unearned runs and edged the New York Yankees 6-5 Tuesday night as reliever Moe Drabowsky put down a ninth-inning uprising.

Drabowsky took over for Eddie Watt, the third Baltimore pitcher, after the Yankees had scored two runs.

Pinch hitter Frank Fernandez, attempting to squeeze the tying run home, bunted a soft liner to first baseman Boog Powell, who stepped on the bag to double up Dick Howser.

Dave Johnson's two-run single in the fifth inning off loser Stan Bahnsen drove in what proved to be the winning run.

Player 0-11 in sudden death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — South African Gary Player has a good reason to dislike sudden death playoffs. He has lost 11 in a row.

On the other hand he has defeated Arnold Palmer and Miller Barber in his only 18-hole playoffs.

Player, who has won all major United States tournaments, the Open, the PGA and the Masters, was one of the early arrivals for the $100,000 Houston Champions International which starts Thursday. He got in a practice round Tuesday over the 7,118-yard, par 36-35-71 Cypress Creek layout.

"Why one-hole playoffs?" Player asked. "A 14-handicapper might beat me on one hole. There's no skill involved at all. There's too much at stake to decide a championship on one hole."

Player, who has won more than $500,000 in the United States, said he believes he could win $130,000 a year if he lived in this country.

He believes his stroke average on his current tour is as good as 69 and might be as low as 68. His stroke average for the

The Indians were leading 2-1 on Max Alvis' first-inning sacrifice fly and Joe Azcue's fourth-inning homer when the infield collapsed behind pitcher Sonny Siebert, 2-2.

With two out in the sixth, Jimmie Hall doubled and scored the tying run when Jay Johnstone's grounder went through second baseman Salmons. Johnstone then stole second and scored when Bob Rodgers' grounder went through first baseman Horton.

The Angels picked up a run in the eighth on Johnstone's triple and Rodgers' single and added another run in the ninth.

Reds held to two hits by Dierker

HOUSTON (AP) — Larry Dierker's two-hit pitching and a three-run burst in the eighth inning carried the Houston Astros to a 3-0 victory over Cincinnati Tuesday night.

The Astros reeled off five double plays, a club record, in support of Dierker, 2-3, who walked three and struck out seven.

John Bateman led off the Astros' eighth with a single, the fourth hit off Cincinnati southpaw Gerry Arrigo. After Dierker bunted foul on the third strike, Ron Davis lashed a double to left.

Denis Menke then singled down the third base line, scoring Miller, and Jim Wynn and Doug Rader greeted reliever Ted Abernathy with run-scoring singles.

Gleaming Sword gets approval

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Cleaning Sword received final approval Tuesday from owner C. V. Whitney for a starring role in Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

"Unless something happens to him between now and then, we're in," Whitney said after watching the gray colt work five furlongs in 59.35 seconds.

"I asked the clocker before the workout what would be a good time for that distance the way the track was today and he told me 1:02 would be fine. Obviously, I was impressed then."

Gleaming Sword, going from the gate and wearing blinkers for the first time, finished out six furlongs in 1:12.25, but Whitney said, "He was just walking that last eighth."

Meanwhile, it appeared likely that Thomas Leclair's Subpet would be withdrawn from the Derby picture. Trainer Ike Mouray was in Pennsylvania for his father's funeral, but stablehands said the trainer "will have an announcement when he gets back."

Derby threats T.V. Commercial, Francie's Hat and Forward Pass put in a final serious workout while Wood Memorial winner Dancer's Image galloped three miles and practiced saddling procedure.

"I plan three mile gallops again Wednesday and Thursday," trainer Lou Cavalieri said.

Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, the probable favorite for the Derby, worked a mile in 1:37 between races, the same last minute preparation that trainer Henry Forrest used when he sent Kausai King to the Derby winner's circle for Mike Ford two years ago.

T.V. Commercial worked a mile in 1:40.45 with trainer Tony Basile and Bill O'Neill, general manager of Bwamazon Farm, looking on. He was caught in fractions of 24.2-5, 47.4-5 and 1:14.

Ralph Toe, filling in for trainer Jimmy Conway, sent Francie's Hat a mile in 1:41.4-5 with R. J. Gonzalez in the saddle. "It was just about what we wanted, although he went the last eighth pretty fast," Cote said.

Francie's Hat, Cote explained, has to be brought up to a race slowly to be in his best form. The clocker caught him in fractions of 26.51 and 1:16.3-5.

Proper Proof received an added cheerleader when his owner, Mrs. Montgomery Fisher, flew in from Beverly Hills, Calif.

"I got so nervous at home that I just picked up and left," she explained.

Mrs. Fisher, whose husband "builds everything from missile launching pads to apartment houses," mused about how she almost became the owner of Don B., who came from the West Coast with Proper Proof for the Derby.

"We actually bid at the Del Mar sales on Don B. but didn't get him. Then, when the price on Proper Proof wasn't high enough, his owners bid him and we bought him the next day," she said.

Swoboda's 7th homer beats Phils

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Swoboda took over the major league home run lead by hitting his seventh of the season as the New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 1-0 behind Don Card-well's five-hitter Tuesday. Swoboda, a right-handed batter, connected off southpaw Chris Short as the leadoff batter in the second inning. The drive went over the right center field fence.

The shutout was the fourth among seven victories by the Mets. They have lost nine games. The triumph was also the first for Cardwell, who has lost two.

The Phils' major threat came in the fourth inning when Johnny Callison led off with a double off the right field wall. However, Cardwell easily retired the next three batters without the runner advancing.

In the ninth, the Phils put runners on first and second with right hand. Play happened in third inning. Umpire at plate is Lee Weyer. (UPI Telephoto)

Twins sweep Bosox series

BOSTON (AP) — Pitcher Dave Boswell cracked a homer and a run-producing double before needing relief help from Al Worthington Tuesday in the Minnesota Twin's 7-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox for a sweep of a two-game series.

Boswell picked up his third victory in four decisions as Worthington bailed him out after the Red Sox had closed to within one run in the sixth inning.

Joe Foy sent the Red Sox out to a 2-0 first-inning lead with his first homer of the season, but the Twins came back with six runs in the next four innings.

Harmon Killebrew tripled and scored on an infield out in the second. Boswell led off the third with a homer into the left field screen and Killebrew later drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

A single by Jackie Hernandez, Boswell's double to left and a two-bagger by Rod Carew provided two more Minnesota runs in the fourth. A line double by Ted Uhlander and Hernandez' single was good for another run in the fifth.

The loss, Boston's third straight, was charged to starter Dick Ellsworth, his first in the American League after two victories. Ellsworth was obtained from the Philadelphia Phils during the off season.

The Red Sox rallied for a run in the ninth when, with one out, pinch-hitter Jose Tartabull singled and scored on a double by Mike Andrews.

But Worthington got Joe Foy to line out and then Ron Perranoski came in as a reliever and forced Carl Yastrzemski to pop up for the final out.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Left-hander Ray Sadecki scattered 10 hits and pitched out of five jams in the first six innings as the San Francisco Giants defeated Atlanta 7-0 Tuesday behind a rash of stolen bases.

The Giants, who had stolen only two bases in their first 16 games, swiped four and all resulted in runs.

Opening lead—five of hearts.

One secret of winning bridge lies in acquiring the knack of benefiting from a mistake you make; at least it would seem that way — judging from this hand played in the 1967 world championship match between Italy and North America.

With Edgar Kaplan, North and Norman Kay, South, for the American team, the bidding went as shown. Kay intended his notrump bid, after passing originally, as a call for his partner to respond in spades or clubs, but apparently Kaplan misunderstood the purpose of the bid and ran from two clubs doubled to two diamonds, the suit West had bid. After some further scuffling, Kay wound up in three clubs doubled, which he very luckily made.

He won the heart lead with the ace, led a low spade to the jack, which held, and another spade back to the king. West won with the ace and continued with a heart, taken by the king.

A diamond ruff permitted Kay to lead a high spade, which West ruffed with the nine to prevent declarer from discarding a heart from dummy. Declarer overruffed with dummy's queen, trumped a diamond, and led still another high spade.

This time West ruffed with the three, overruffed by the seven, and another diamond ruff put Kay in his hand to lead his last spade and discard a heart from dummy as East ruffed with the king.

Kay later lost two trump tricks to West, but wound up making three clubs doubled for a score of 470 points as a result of the partnership misunderstandings.

Italy eventually won the championship (the Italians have now won the Bermuda Bowl nine times in succession), but if the American team had had a few more similarly successful partnership misunderstandings, they would have overcome the apparently invincible Italians.

Voice of Broadway

More High Chic: Vidal Sassoon's hairdo emporium will chop midday's locks stylishly for $10 but if Vidal personally is summoned with shears — $50. . . . Eddie Adams (Mrs. Marty Mills) said, she is seriously considering retirement from show biz (except for TV cigar commercials) when the infant arrives. . . . Disc jockey Jim Lowe, a very good one, finished a book.

Stylish pianist Ray Hartley familiar to Waldorf, Sheraton, etc., cocktail customers finished a whole Broadway musical all by himself. . . . The food's good at Mykonos restaurant but the decor is so smart it's being used by slick mags for fashion backgrounds; Greek art direction of "Zorba" and "America, America" designed it.

De Gaulle's guards mutter his six-foot-four makes him "impossible" to protect. . . . La Chansonette's Rita Dimitri tells us of the dozen languages in which she warbles "Dutch is the only one almost impossible to sing in" (that's an Amsterdam lie!). . . . Louis Armstrong's "What a Wonderful World" has hit the peak of British charts and he's so wildly in demand, the Hatley Variety Club in Leeds, England, not only will pay Satch a record fee but ponied up one dozen roundtrip first class jet tickets (for Louis' band, personal physician Dr. Schiff, manager Joe Glaser and assorted lesser staffers).

Natalie Wood hasn't made a movie. . . . couple of seasons. Studios say her asking price is more Julie Andrews' than realistic. . . . Raymond Burr bought a mini-island off Tahiti. . . . Rock-roll's come full-square: Bill Haley's "Rock Around the Clock" which started it all so many convulsions ago is having a revival.

Columbia pix decided to close its training school for actors. . . . Let TV do it. . . . Ralph Meeker's orders when hired to play a New York cop in "The Detective" was, "Get a paunch". . . . He did it at La Senla Restaurant on pasta, every meal.

John Loder's ex-wife Evelyn was flattened by flu. . . . After 16 years training as the St. Regis executive chef, Joseph Castaybert joined the Voisin restaurant as consultant. . . . TV's Merv Griffin starts collecting the rich Las Vegas gravy Aug. 6 at the Riviera. . . . DeeJay Dick

Sheppard (another good one) lost his mother. . . . Hotel Edison tried to promote 25-year bellhop Bill Picaro; Bill pointed out his Brooklyn home is all paid for and he writes a humor column for an American Legion magazine and "any promotion might ruin my sense of humor". . . . First manuscript reading of Marc Connelly's "Voice Offstage" book has Holt, Rinehart counting best-selling royalties already. . . . Have a space-rumor: U.S. and Russian scientists will confer on the possibility of joint trips to Venus. . . . Gene Barry, Robert Stack and Tony Franciosa are the top-billed stars of the upcoming NBC-TV 90-minute film series "The Name of the Game" but listen to us: when it arrives, save your applause for Susan Saint James, a pretty, perky, lovely young girl clown; she's got it all.

Oh that wicked Latin Quarter floor show: one of its big acts is a five-minute badminton match. . . . John Gary got his wish for a nationally syndicated TV series and now wants just as feverishly to get it out of Miami Beach. . . . Illinois inventor's new wrinkle for auto seat belts: it also massages your tummy.
